

Level 3 Diploma in Health and Social Care (QCF) Courses

City and Guilds Level 3 Diploma Health & Social Care

Course Overview:

The most pressing issue facing the United Kingdom's National Health Service (NHS) in 2015 is balancing the country's increasing health care needs arising from changing population demographics. There is always high demand of jobs in this sector According to Health Careers; there are more than 350 different careers on offer.

The largest employer in the health sector is the NHS, which employs more than 1.6 million people in the UK. There are many independent healthcare providers in private sector including Bupa, Care UK, BMI Healthcare etc. which offers thousands of jobs from this sector.

South London Academy offers Level 3 Diploma in Health and Social Care (QCF) Courses to cater the resources in this industry.

These qualifications are designed to equip learners with the skills and knowledge needed to care for others in a broad range of health or social care settings.

A Diploma in Health and Social Care is flexible to suit all fields of health and social care. Learners can select a pathway that suits their role - for example, working with people with a learning disability, people with dementia or children and young people.

This is the main qualification required by the Quality Care Commission in England and the Care Councils in Wales and Northern Ireland.

The qualification is made up of mandatory and optional units. All of the diplomas share some core units with further mandatory and optional units.

SLA will offer three pathway options for the HSC Adults Diploma in England namely;

- Generic
- Dementia
- Learning Disabilities.
